

Make yourself at hôme.

It's that time again - we're on the lookout for a fresh batch of new hômes. But, let's not jump the gun. Of course, you'll want to know a little bit about us first. Well, we're a collection of 5 specialist agencies, based in Leeds and playing host to over 70 very talented staff indeed. The one thing we always look for when hiring is the same friendly, hardworking attitude that hôme was built on. Oh, and an insatiable desire to do great work that, at the end of the day, sells stuff.

So, what exactly are we looking for? Well, right now, we're on the hunt for some pretty smart online and offline Client Service people, from those who're at the beginning of their careers looking to make a name for themselves, to seasoned pros who can teach us a thing or two. So, if you're one of them, send an email to sarah@hellohomegroup.com and we'll get together for a chat.

But wait, our search for the right people doesn't end there. We're also keen to meet new talent in the areas of Design, Art Direction, Copywriting, Programming or whatever, so we'd love to see what you can do. C'mon, what are you waiting for - get in touch!

And, one last thing before we sign off, no recruitment agencies, please. If we need you, we'll call you. Thanks.